Perfect Practice® Notify

Intra-office Communication Solution

Have your secretary non-obtrusively alert you to important phone calls while you're on the phone.

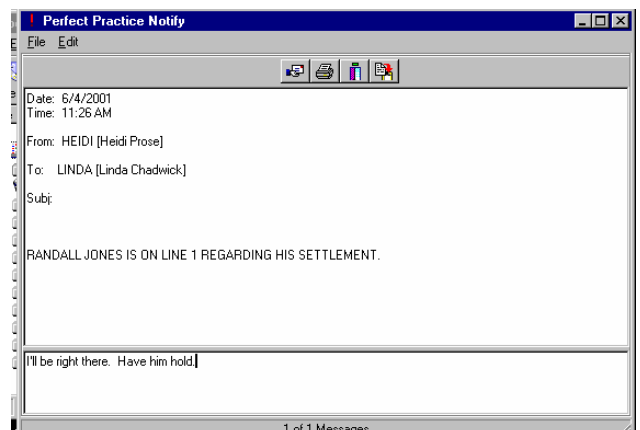

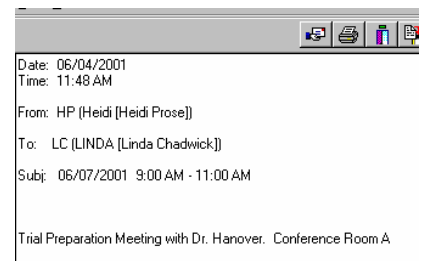

Be notified when someone enters a phone message, appointment or to-do for you.

If you are out for the day, messages are stored and automatically pop-up when you login.

While on the phone, ask your secretary to do something without alerting the person on the other end of the line.

Have an instant messenger program limited to use only in the privacy of your office. No internet security issues.

Able to archive notifications and chat sessions. Management monitoring capability.
